CORREN & SAXBY

WIN GOLDEN OPEN

Play Squash for fun and fitness!

EDITORIAL

One can only marvel at the achievements of Mike Corren. The “Moose” has done it again and extended his record as the oldest PSA player to have won a PSA title. Well it was a case of Golden Open #6 for the 43 year old! He beat 3 youngsters nearly half his age to win.

It was fantastic to see the Golden Open expanded to include a PSA W5 event for the Ladies. Equally it was great to see Tamika Saxby and Samantha Foyle making the long journey over to support the inaugural event.

Club President Peter Siebert and his band of wonderful volunteers did an amazing job running 3 events (PSA, Graded and Junior) over the long weekend. They looked after around 200 entries!

TIME OUT WITH THE MOOSE

I always remember when you racked up title number 50 at the Golden Open in 2014. You were so happy. It was like relief. Reflecting back does winning the Golden Open still hold a special place in your heart?

Any PSA win feels pretty satisfying Kim, there is always that extra 'edge' to these events over and above what you experience in local events and league ... as you would hope! Kalgoorlie though was the last event I had planned, over a sixteen week training/competition period which included nine events so ... I suppose it was the culmination of my efforts and of course I expected a lot of myself and thought I should do well. It was a very different feeling to last year as I was going through quite a horrid period and really thought I had 'lost it'.. whatever 'it' is!

You are closing in on the second highest PSA title winner Jahangir Khan (61 titles) ... can you pass the legend?

I don't feel comfortable about the association with that number and Jahangir ... at all! I'm just a guy who likes training, playing and losing money playing Squash! I have never associated myself in any way with the truly great players or their records as I have fumbled my way along ... it's chalk and cheese. Take JK's name out of it though and if you ask me can I reach sixty one then I would say why the hell not?!

In the final you beat youngster Rhys Dowling (22) in four: 16-14, 8-11, 11-9, 11-6. How would you describe how the match played out?

Well ... for the first few games I felt a lot of pressure indeed! My body had taken quite a beating in my previous two matches thanks to the knee's of both Tom and Joseph! I had matching corks on both my right and left ITB's and as the match progressed my left side seized up completely and on top of that Rhys was moving very well and making life extremely difficult for me. It wasn't until my back was to the wall at 5-1 down in the third that I played what I would call extremely 'practical' squash, I tried to protect my weak areas (quite a few at the best of times!) and make use of what I could do well, luckily it was enough and I scampered through.

Dowling is basically half your age and ranked 135 compared to yourself at 206. Despite his youth he was unable to tame the moose. You also beat Tom Calvert (22) and Joseph White (19) convincingly. What do you think our juniors are doing wrong or are they just inexperienced?

Hmm.. you are trying to get me into trouble aren't you Kim?! No look ... it's not really my place to say what these lads are doing right or wrong, I don't know them personally and have never spent time with them to know what their daily training habits are or their level of professionalism, etc and I am not their coach so ... it would be amiss of me to make such comments. I do think though that to a degree Australia has been reduced to a very small 'pond' compared to the 70's and 80's and to a lesser degree the 90's due to the reduction in venues and overall standard and depth of play. Now more than ever a young player must go overseas to get an idea of the standard that needs to be achieved, the work required to get to these levels hasn't changed ... it always was and always will be bloody hard! Whether they are willing to go outside of their personal comfort zone and find out is a question to be posed to them.

You played a terrific match in the NT Open against World Junior Champion Eain Yow Ng. You might have lost to the 19 year old eventual winner but you gave him one hell of a scare. The scoreline was 5-11, 11-8, 10-12, 12-10, 8-11 (61m). What was that match like? How would you compare our juniors with Ng?

It was a very satisfying match to play in a lot of ways and even though I didn't get the result it was just a pleasure to play at that level. Due to being out of the saddle for so long (at that level) I had forgotten the key factor which is one must at all costs do everything possible to get in front of their opponent and play and move with intensity, I gave the first game away whilst still working this out or more aptly REMEMBERING it! From the second game on though I thought we were quite evenly matched and it was pretty 'full on' which ... you would expect! The refereeing was quite 'unique' I will say but ... it was uniquely unique for both of us so ... that was fun! Comparing him to our Juniors? Sorry ... there is no comparison, he is the best in the world and we are clearly not, it's up to our guys to change that.

You have been residing in WA for just over a year now. How are you finding life in the West?

Well.. as Jim Morrison said 'The West is best!' Mind you he also said that he was the Lizard King and could do anything so ... probably should take what Jimbo said with a pinch of salt! No, it's fantastic, I describe it as how Australia was thirty years ago before everything got a little bit too self important! The squash scene is very active and social, still a good number of tournaments and as we saw in Kalgoorlie with over two hundred entries ... lots of keen squashies!

Last year you began working at Squashworld Cambridge? How is that going for you?

Yes that's right Kim, I was a little nervous at first as it's the first 'proper job' I have had since I was about eighteen back in 1932, however since I have been hanging around squash clubs almost daily since I was six then I would have to say it's my natural habitat! I love being there on a daily basis and many a time I can't actually believe i'm being PAID to do it!! Working for Kane and Simmo is fantastic because they are both squash enthusiasts and do a lot for the game in Perth and as with anything it's good to be involved with like minded people. It also lets me experience first hand the issues and challenges court owners across Australia have to face on a daily basis and what a difficult landscape it is, but that's another story for another time!

You seem to have been keeping yourself fairly injury free these days. Is that the case? Do you have any prevention strategies?

There are a few factors, firstly about eighteen months ago I decided to go Vegan, first and foremost that was a moral decision based on the fact that I have always loved animals and yet never made the connection with that and eating them! A bit slow on the uptake to say the least! I am actually quite horrified now that I did that for nearly forty two years, from a more selfish point of view though it has improved my health and therefore my squash ten fold in my ability to train and bounce back day after day and get through events, for example after my match in Darwin, even though it was a tough five setter I was raring to go the next morning with not a shred of soreness, in that respect I now see my thirties as a complete waste health/performance wise.

A vital element also was hooking up again earlier this year with Roger Flynn, apart from having a proper well thought out plan which stopped me from over training (which has always been a problem) Roger got me 'thinking' about the game again, dissecting and immersing myself in it, there is no other way really!

Without Roger I would not have had the success I have had this year or reached the standards I have reached ... thus far!

Competition wise you seem to be winning comfortably against the best in the west. How do you maintain your good form?

Well I am quite lucky that Dave Ilich is quite keen and willing to train four to five times per week! Without Dave I would probably struggle to do it all by myself which I have done countless times over the years all round the world, that kind of motivation just isn't there anymore.

What does please me though is that I have actually been able to advance on my level since being here, again I would credit Roger Flynn mostly for this and Dave as my training partner but ... I have lost count over the years how many times I have heard the excuse of Western Australia's location being the reason for the inability of an individual to have success, I think this is absolute rubbish!

What events have you got penciled in for the remainder of the year?

At this stage I have penciled in Coffs Harbour (always a great event), the NSW Open, and the Queensland Open which I have never had success in and the Australian Open, there will also be some local events around the West.

TIME OUT WITH THE MOOSE

What do you feel you still need to achieve?

I don't feel any great need to achieve anything except trying to keep presenting myself in a condition to play squash that I feel does myself justice as such. I do admit that I enjoy defying what the 'masses' consider the age bracket in which one can play good squash, I have no desire whatsoever to be a part of the negativity this section puts others or themselves in.

What would you like people to remember about you?

Not fazed by such things really Kim, as long as my opponents thought or feared it was going to be a long and difficult day at the office before playing me is all one could hope for I feel ... all the rest is just fairy floss and unicorns!

VICTORIAN JUNIOR SQUASH CHAMPIONSHIPS

Interstate raiders dominate Victorian Junior State Titles by Ben Rowles

A selection of Australia's top underage players produced a high quality showcase of junior squash at the 2017 Victorian Junior State Titles.

80 competitors took part in the tournament at the Westerfolds Sports Centre, in what is regarded as the premier event on the Victorian Junior Squash Circuit.

Plenty of interest around the weekend focused on the 19/23 YAG Boys event, where in form local Tate Norris was the top ranked seed.

Norris, who was previously undefeated on the 2017 Victorian Junior Squash Circuit prior to the event, would face tough opposition from Jack Hudson, a player ranked in the top ten nationally in the Under 19 male age group, and number two ranked Under 17 male Maaz Khatri.

Unfortunately for Norris, his unbeaten run came to an end at the hands of Khatri, who defeated the Victorian in four on his way to the final.

There he would meet Hudson, who looked in ominous touch in his three matches leading up to the final. It was the South Australian representative in Khatri who settled first and took control of the match by winning the first two games.

The Tasmanian responded with the next two games, including a mammoth 17-15 win in the fourth, before closing out a high quality spectacle in five: 4/11, 9/11, 11/8, 17/15, 11/7.

The depth of talent in the 19 YAG Girls event was equally as impressive, with two top ten players from each of the Under 19 and Under 17 national rankings featuring on the entry list.

Fourth-seed Sarah Quinlivan was Victoria's top hope for the event heading into the weekend, and despite not making it to the final, the Goulburn Valley product won plenty of admirers in winning two of her three matches to finish third.

Much like the Under 19/23 Men, the Under 19 Girls decider would feature a representative from both Tasmania and South Australia, with event top seed Grace Pattison taking on the top ranked Under 17 Girl in the country, Alex Haydon.

Pattison entered the final as the favourite by virtue of being the seventh ranked Under 19 Female in the country, but despite having the edge in experience, it was Haydon who claimed the first game.

Pattison hit back to take out the second, but it was Haydon who held her nerve throughout the match to defeat her older opponent in four: 11/7, 8/11, 12/10, 11/9.

In the 17 Boys YAG, Toby Moore ensured

that another trophy would be headed across to the Apple Isle with victory over top ranked Victorian, Wodonga's Alex Baines, in the event decider.

In a match up between the number one and two seeds in the event, many expected the encounter to go down to the wire.

However, it was the Tasmanian who grabbed the ascendancy early and never let go, winning in straight games: 14/12, 11/8, 11/5.

The 17 YAG Girls final was also decided in straight games, with the ACT's Kiara Chen accounting for Yarra Valley CC's Carly Norris.

Chen was made to earn every point in the first game, but once she had it within her grasp she never looked back on her way to the title: 13/11, 11/6, 11/1.

In the younger age groups, Jack Quinlivan, Janaanii Sukunesan and Andre Lynn ensured at least three of the Victorian Junior State Titles would remain locally after taking out their respective age groups.

Goulburn Valley's Quinlivan was made to dig deep in the 15 YAG Boys final against Tasmanian Ben Hudson with the match in the balance at a game-all, but found the winning edge in the remaining two games to secure an 11/2, 11/13, 11/6, 12/10 victory.

Kooyong's Sukunesan looked a class above throughout her matches in the 11/13 YAG Girls event, and came out on top in an all-Victorian final with Wodonga's Gabrielle Baines: 11/8, 11/6, 11/6.

The same could be said for MSAC's Lynn, who didn't drop a game throughout his two preliminary round matches in the 11/13 YAG Boys event. He continued his dominance in the final, defeating Tasmanian Oliver Pridmore 11/8, 11/6, 11/7.

Rounding out the age groups was the 15 YAG Girls, which saw New South Wales' Georgia Lane drop just one game in her four round robin encounters on her way to the title.

In depth with DONNA URQUHART

Where are you based these days and who are you working with (coach/training partners)?

I have a bit of a base in Edinburgh, Scotland at the moment. In between tournaments I spend time training there with my fiance Greg Lobban and the Scottish squash training squad. Their program is based at Heriot Watt University. It is a great environment to be in with a lot of high quality training partners, and Paul Bell the Scottish squash national coach does a great job of running the sessions. I'm very fortunate to be able to join in with them.

When I play tournaments in the US I try to spend some time training with my coach David Palmer while I'm over there.

Obviously you need to spend a lot of time overseas to maintain your world ranking - what percentage of time do you spend overseas verses home?

At the moment I'm probably overseas for about 90% of the year or more. I would love to be able to spend more time in Australia but there is a few reasons as to why this is difficult. We spend quite a few months of the year with busy tournament schedules and it is hard to come all the way back to Australia when you only have a week or two between tournaments in the US or UK/Europe because of the travel time and jet lag involved plus it is also really expensive!

Unfortunately at the moment there are no PSA tournaments in Australia big enough for me to play in and no earning opportunities in professional leagues either. I don't have a place to live in Australia so it is hard for me to come back and spend long stints training here. I try to get back once or twice a year to see my family but that's about it at the moment.

You hail from Northern NSW. With the Commonwealth Games so close to home do you expect a large contingent of supporters coming up to watch you?

Yeah Yamba is only 2 hours drive from the Gold Coast so it's easily accessible. I was home recently and had a lot of people asking me how to go about applying for tickets for the games and which days the squash would be on. There has been quite a bit of buzz around it already which was really exciting. Hopefully everyone that applied for squash tickets gets them and we see a good crew from Yamba there!

You have reached a career high 13 (currently 18) with approximately 9 Commonwealth players ahead of you in the rankings. So it won't be an easy task to medal in singles. Is your main focus a singles medal or a doubles medal?

I'm focussing on both. It certainly won't be easy to medal in the singles but I believe if I play well I am in with a chance. I have beaten a lot of the girls ahead of me at different times (all except Laura and Nicol) and so I know I am capable. I have made some improvements in my game so far this year and I'm hoping to keep that going leading up to the games.

As far as the doubles goes, we are putting a lot of focus on that too. The World Doubles Championships in August will be a good chance for us to play competitively with our partners and also to see where we are at and what we might need to work on.

Do you feel more comfortable playing in the Northern or Southern hemisphere? Do you feel you have any advantages playing on the Gold Coast?

I've honestly never thought of it like that! I might feel comfortable or uncomfortable for a lot of different reasons on a squash court with different court conditions and so on, but I've never thought of it in terms of which hemisphere I'm in.

I like to think that you always have a little bit of an advantage playing on home soil, and hopefully the sheer number of Aussies in the crowd cheering us on on the Gold Coast will make it feel like an advantage.

You are our leading lady. As the highest ranked Aussie in the World one would expect you will be the first picked to represent Australia at the 2018 Commonwealth Games. Are you looking forward to that responsibility?

I'm absolutely looking forward to the Commonwealth Games, but I think the whole of the Australian squash team have the ability to win medals so I don't see it as one person having more responsibility than the others. I'm lucky to be part of a very experienced team who I draw a lot of inspiration from, so all I can do is get out there and try my absolute best for myself, my team and my country.

What does it feel like to put on the green and gold and represent your country?

DONNA
URQUHART

It's an incredible feeling, second to none. I feel extremely proud when I represent my country. Aussie Aussie Aussie!!!

So far you have won a Bronze Medal in 2010 in Women's Doubles with Kasey Brown. Can you recall that match and how it felt when you won the medal? (Just to recap the match was against Amelia Pittock and Lisa Camilleri and the score was 11-4, 10-11, 11-5).

DONNA URQUHART

It was a tough and fair match and both teams wanted it really badly, it was such a shame that it had to be against another Aussie team. It was an incredible feeling to win a medal at the Commonwealth Games and I remember getting a text from my brother after the medal ceremony saying that my whole family stayed up to watch the presentation on TV (it was about 3am at home in Australia), and he said he was so proud and excited for me that he couldn't get back to sleep.

At the 2014 Commonwealth Games you didn't medal. What happened in Glasgow? Were you just not at your best?

I was playing some of my best squash leading up to the games. I felt I had prepared really well and was peaking at the right time. I was entered in the singles event and women's doubles. Just a few days before flying out of Australia I was sat down by one of the coaches and told that Squash Australia had made a mistake.

They thought they were allowed to enter 5 men and 5 women no matter what, however the rule was that any person entered has to be playing in an event, not just a travelling reserve. They had overlooked the rule and were told by Commonwealth Games officials that they could not bring our 5th female as she was not in any event. They told me that they were going to take me out of my singles event and gift my spot to our reserve.

After looking forward to the Commonwealth Games for 4 years and having worked so hard on improving my singles squash, to hear this just days before was devastating to say the least and the way it was dealt with was appalling. It took me a long time to get over what happened in Glasgow and I had to take some time out of the game to recover mentally, but I have come a long way since then and I'm determined to put those memories to bed with a successful campaign on the Gold Coast next year.

Being a left-hander I believe you bring a tremendous strength to any doubles combination - do you feel it is a strength?

Yeah, I think it gives an alternative option as a doubles partnership and it allows myself and my partners to play on our forehand sides which tends to be everyone's preferable side that they feel more comfortable on. For this reason I believe that having a lefthander in a doubles partnership is a dangerous combination.

Speaking of doubles partners you have been teamed up with Rachael and David (at the World Championships) previously - are they who you expect to be teamed up with at the Commonwealth Games?

The teams are yet to be decided for the Commonwealth Games as we have a couple of trials and competitions before that stage so it will be up to the coaches to decide the best combinations.

Do you prefer Women's Doubles or Mixed Doubles?

I really enjoy playing both!

I know retirement is not on the immediate drawing board do you have any thoughts on 2022 Commonwealth Games and beyond?

I have not thought about the 2022 Games just yet. I would love to be playing squash for as long as I can as it's what I absolutely love and if I was fortunate enough to be in contention for the Commonwealth Games in 2022 that would be awesome!

If you were not a professional squash player what do you think you might have been?

Even as a kid I always knew I wanted to be a sports person - I remember watching the Commonwealth Games and Olympics on TV and just being in awe of the athletes, and I remember thinking even as a youngster "that will be me one day", but back then it was just a dream. If it wasn't squash it probably would have been hockey or middle distance running.

I always ask this question because I like to give people a voice for their ideas and I believe one day someone will come up with a fantastic idea. You are in charge of the game at the highest level - what would be one initiative (or more) that you would like to brought in to rejuvenate squash in Australia?

I have a few ideas! ...

One big difference I see in squash clubs overseas compared to many clubs in Australia, is that they are more than just squash clubs - they are places that people like to hang out. They have cafés or bars as well and are the sort of places you would go to spend time and socialise, not just play your game and leave. I think we need to get this kind of thing happening in Australia so that it creates extra revenue for the squash club but also creates a sense of excitement around the squash.

Another idea I'd love to see is to get squash clubs to have movie style nights where they show live Squash TV events on big screens and get everyone down to the club to watch, have a BBQ, and cheer on their favourite international players. You could even place bets for fun with your mates on who you think might win. I think it would be a great thing for juniors to watch more professional squash and aspire to be like those players, and also for club players to watch and learn from a higher level.

Following on from that, I think it would be amazing for squash in Australia to have a big international tournament on our home soil again, a chance for people to go and watch the best players in the world in real life, and a chance for Australia's top players to be showcased in front of their home crowd.

Lastly, I think squash needs to be marketed for the intense workout that it is! People these days go nuts for things like crossfit and anything that provides a really hard workout in a short amount of time. Squash is exactly that! But on top of that it's fun at the same time! I think if more people realised how many calories they could burn playing squash (while also having fun), they would definitely start getting into it more!

You have been selected to represent Australia at the World Doubles Championships in Manchester (Congratulations). You won a silver (with Rachael) and a bronze medal (with David) at the last World Championships. Are you looking forward to them?

DONNA
URQUHART

Really looking forward to it. Any World Championship is special and although I did well with my partners in 2016, there is still room for improvement in both competitions and we'd really like to establish ourselves as one of the main contenders going into the Commonwealth Games in 2018.

What do you need to work on or do differently to get yourself into the World Top 10?

I don't feel I need to do anything differently as I know I'm doing the right things to become the best squash player I can be. I will continue to work on every aspect of my game to make those small percent improvements. I've been unlucky with some injuries during my career which have held me back a bit, but I feel like I'm playing the best squash of my career at the moment and I know that to crack that top 10, I'll need to be consistent throughout the year with my results which I'll be aiming to do in the 2017/18 season.

Finally, what would your advice be to a young promising junior (13-17 age group) wanting to become a professional squash player?

I would say, don't rest on your laurels. For example, if you are winning your age group easily, then play up an age to look for harder competition. Always look to keep improving your level. Just because you are winning Australian junior titles, doesn't necessarily mean you are going to be world class, you have to keep pushing yourself to get better. I came from a really small town and I had to play against older people or against the men to keep improving, and I think that attitude helped me get to where I am. Dream big and go for it!
