MONTE CARLO

WELCOME

Happy New Year !!! What a year it promises to be!

The Gold Coast will host the Commonwealth Games and it will be so exciting for the players who will get to play on home courts in front of their fans and especially their loved ones.

Sadly, not everyone can make the team and one can only feel for Lisa Camilleri and Josh Larkin. Camilleri was hoping to make her 3rd Commonwealth Games team but it wasn't to be. At 34 it looks likely Lisa will retire.

Josh Larkin has improved his ranking from 84 to 62 in the past 12 months and is the 4th best Aussie in World Rankings. At 28 he is likely to only have one more chance.

Australian CG Team

The Australian Commonwealth Games Team has been announced.

David Palmer will be making his 6th appearance at a Commonwealth Games but will only play in one event with partner Zac Alexander.

Rachael Grinham will be making her 5th appearance and has been selected as a doubles specialist!. She will most likely partner Donna Urquhart in the Women's Doubles and Ryan Cuskelly in the Mixed.

Pilley Overcomes Cuskelly in All-Australian First Round Battle at the PSA World Championships

Story by Ellie Mawson PSA

Australia's World No.21 Cameron Pilley earned his place in the second round of the AJ Bell PSA World Championships after defeating compatriot Ryan Cuskelly 3-1 at the National Squash Centre in Manchester.

Pilley opened up a two-game cushion as he took control from the outset in the opening two games, before World No.14 Cuskelly battled back to dominate and take the third.

However, Yamba-born Pilley managed to regain control of the fixture as he returned to the game plan that had served him well early on in the match to close out an 11-8, 11-7, 4-11, 11-6 win and secure a second round berth, where he will face Egypt's Karim Ali Fathi.

"Mentally it was very tough," said Pilley following the gruelling encounter.

"We are pretty good mates and we grew up in the same part of Australia and it's always tough putting the friendship aside when you get on court. To make it worse we were teammates last week at the World Teams and we were sharing a room all week, so, it was kind of one of those ones where you just have to put it aside and focus on the game.

"I thought I played well in the first two, I made it tough and lengthened the rallies. Tactically, I thought it was pretty good and then I changed my game a little bit and he capitalised and dominated me, so then I had to go back to what I was doing in the first two and try to implement my game plan more than he implemented his and luckily it paid off."

Donna Urquhart's Thrilling Finish to Monte Carlo Classic

Australia's #1 squash player Donna Urquhart was installed as the #1 seed at the 2017 Monte Carlo Classic and won a tense final 11-9 in the fifth.

Urquhart had to work for the title from the very word go. Her first two matches went to five, the semi went to four and the final was yet another gruelling five setter.

In the final Urquhart needed 53 minutes to outlast 19 year old Egyptian Zeina Mickawy.

Unseeded Mickawy beat three seeds to reach the final including #6S Rachael Grinham.

BEHIND — THE — SCENES

During the OJC and AJO you will see one of the best squash photographers taking lots of photos to capture the action both on and off the court. Toni van der Kreek is no stranger to many of the junior players as they have probably seen her previously at many of the major events with her sons Ben, Jon and these days Robbie.

Squash Media loves Toni. Her photos make our publications come to life! She volunteers her time to capture memories and she is a delight to deal with.

This interview looks to uncover her motivation and get some much needed tips from her so everyone can learn how to take better squash photos! It also looks back at one of her most significant achievements of 2017 ... being an official photographer at the Rugby League State of Origin Decider between Queensland and NSW.

How did you get into photographing squash?

My kids started to play junior comps more often and I noticed that no photos were being taken and if they did they were using an iphone / ipad so the quality was not that good and we all wanted to see some photos after the event.

At that same time I had recently upgraded my camera, so I thought I would give it a go and try take some squash photos. I had no idea what I was doing, but it was fun and I managed to get some good shots. I've always liked to help out but being stuck in the kitchen was not my thing so I found I was able to help by just taking photos. After the first comp I took photos at, I did some research and purchased a few different lenses and got totally hooked into photography.

I've had lots of help along the way from other Squash parents including John Lockton and Tim Harradine.

Photographer Toni van der Kreek

What advice would you give to anyone taking squash shots that would improve their results quickly?

Toni's Top 5 Tips

1. Try shutter priority or full manual mode on your camera. (Shutter speed anywhere from 1/160 to 1/250, ISO leave as Auto, however if you don't like the grainy look see if you can set a max ISO setting eg anywhere from 1000 to 3200. Hint: Set your camera to overexpose by 2-4 stops ... the white squash walls can trick the camera.
2. Use continuous auto-focus mode and maybe try back button focus
3. I like to get photos with the players face and if possible the ball in the shot
4. Take lots of crowd shots – they are always great to see
5. Have fun!!!

You spend many hours taking shots and uploading them to the internet. What motivates you to do this?

Good question!!! I must be mad, but I honestly do love taking sport photos, I like the colours, the movement of players, the challenge of getting a different type of shot, the natural expressions of the players, they are not fake but real emotions. Also, trying to pick the moment when some action will happen and when the desperate shots get played.

One of my favourite comps of 2017 was the BJO at Alex Hills on Mother's Days it was really nice to get some Mum and son/daughter photos.

What camera do you use?

Nikon D500 now, which is a semi pro sports camera and shoots 10fps.

My go-to lens would be the Nikon 24-70mm 2.8, it's fast to focus and at f/2.8 you can have faster shutter speeds as more light can get in.

The camera lens is just as important as the camera body.

You won a competition to officially photograph rugby league players from the sideline in the State of Origin Decider? Did you enjoy the experience? Can you describe how it felt?

Photographer Toni van der Kreek

I was away with work doing a hard slog 4 day workshop, when I got an email from NRL media to sign in and submit my details. I thought I might have a chance but I was still not sure if I won. So I tried to not get too excited and submitted my details while having to take a selfie in the hotel as they also needed a recent photo. Later that morning, I got the official call from Nikon to say that I had won a place in this comp. I had to leave the conference room quickly to do celebration dance in the hallway!

Once I told the kids they all wanted to know if I could take someone to carry my bags. My Mum thought it was funny as she knew I knew nothing about NRL apart from the colours of the QLD/NSW teams.

The SOO3 night went in a blur, it was a great night and a once in a life time experience. The highlight of the game was the first try which was right next to our seats.

I have printed a number of the photos from that game and had them framed with my ID card for the night.

What is your favourite squash shot?

Very hard to narrow down, so I only looked back at my 2017 photos. I've chosen these two photos because I can't resist a good B & W photo, plus this match between Tamika Saxby and Samantha Foyle was my favourite match for the whole tournament.

Photographer Toni van der Kreek

What is your favourite shot of all time?

Really any photo from the WJC 2016 in Poland, so I've picked this one as it was a real treat to take photos at night on a full glass court with Steve Cubbins.

Can't wait until QLD has its own permanent glass court!

This shot was used on the Oceania Junior Championship Poster!

It is a shot of Will Curtis from Western Australia.

What is your favourite State of Origin shot?

I've picked this photo of Valentine Holmes because it depicts the raw emotion of an athlete achieving a brilliant moment.

Queensland Captain Cameron Smith is also caught running in to congratulate Holmes after he scored the first try.

For the record Queensland won the match and the series. Definitely a wonderful experience for me.

Thanks Toni ... thank you so much for allowing Squash Media to use your squash shots

Australian Squash Juniors

This Facebook Page/Group is the brainchild of Western Australia's Clive Pollard. It is fast becoming one of the most informative and timely online results services for Aussie Juniors.

DESCRIPTION: Group to keep all Aussie juniors, coaches, parents and event organisers in touch with what's happening in junior squash (possibly around the world, if others want to join in). Completely independent and not influenced by Squash Australia or any other State/Territory association.

If you have events that could be recorded here, or you want to find out about what's happening and where, then you will find it here.

Clive said "he would like to see more juniors feeding results onto the page because often they have won or lost well before the official organisers can uplift the results to their websites, FB pages, etc. This is especially so when the event is spread across multiple centres".

He went on to say "I would like to encourage players to get their friend/parent/coach to livestream via FB occasionally".

Squash Media supports and highly recommends this page because it is often very difficult to find the results of overseas tournaments and one then needs to trawl through foreign draws hoping to find the information they need.

Would you like to join the group? Simply send a request to join this group to Clive, who will usually respond within an hour or two.
