Happy New Year!

Well Queensland will be the center of attention in January with back to back Platinum events taking place in the Sunshine State.

Redcliffe PCYC will be hosting the Oceania Junior Championships followed by the Trans Tasman Test Match between Australia and New Zealand.

After that the Australian Junior Open will be played at Nerang on the Gold Coast.

151 entries have been received for the OJC and just short of 200 for the AJO.

Good luck to all the Queenslanders competing.

The 2018 Australian Commonwealth Games Team has been announced.

David Palmer will be making his 6th appearance at a CG but will only play in one event with partner Zac Alexander.

Rachael Grinham will be making her 5th appearance and has been selected as a doubles specialist! She will most likely partner Donna Urquhart in the Women's Doubles and Ryan Cuskelly in the Mixed.

Congratulations to Queenslanders Zac Alexander and Rachael Grinham on your selection.

It is so pleasing to see Zac make the team. Zac had an awful experience in Glasgow in 2014.

Zac was selected for his first CG team ahead of Matthew Karwalski but Matt appealed and was ultimately successful. The sad thing for everyone concerned was the time it took to go through the entire appeal process ... over 2 months!

Zac was actually in the Games Village when the Court of Arbitration for Sport finally handed down their decision. After 3 days of preparation at the CG venue, Zac left the Village on the day of the Opening Ceremony!

At the time Zac was absolutely shattered but today he is on top of the World. He is officially in his first CG team at home!

2017 Queensland Highlights

2017 was definitely an interesting year in terms of success.

It began a little sadly when we had to say “Good Bye” to Natalie Grinham at the Tournament of Champions. Grinham has officially retired from the PSA World Tour. Thank you Natalie for wonderful memories you left behind.

Hayley Hankinson got the year off to a good start by winning the U15G Australian Junior Open Championship in Darwin in January. Sadly, her coach Kay Barclay passed away in early February.

Squash Australia reintroduced the Australian Closed and played the Championships in Townsville in March. It was fitting that Zac Alexander who dominated the 2016 Domestic Tour won the PSA National Closed Satellite event in straight.

In September a number of Queenslanders won Australian Masters Titles: Jeff Osborne M35-39, Jim Mobbs M60-64, Brian Cook M70-74, Melissa Martin W40-44, Sue Williams W55-59, Kathy Paterson W65-69, Robyne Bamberry W75-79 and Jan Whackett W80-84.

Queenslanders Nick Calvert (U19B) and Madison Lyon (U13G) won individual titles at the Australian Junior Championships in September/October.

The Sharks were menacing in early October winning their 14th straight Australian Junior Combined Team Championship, October was a big month in Queensland in terms of PSA events. The Brisbane Open (PSA Closed Satellite) got things underway before an upgraded Q Open (PSA M10 and W10) was played on the Gold Coast. Rounding out the month was the staging of the 2nd Cairns International (PSA M5 and W5). Unfortunately, no Queenslanders won any of these events.

Whilst nobody was shining in Queensland in October, Zac Alexander was causing havoc in Canada at the White Oaks Court Classic. The #8 seed was all conquering defeating Canada's best two players (#2S Nick Sachvie and #5S Shawn Delierre) in the lead up to the PSA M10 final before capturing his 27th Tour Title against #4S Christopher Binnie.

November saw Rachael Grinham “turn back time” to win the PSA W10 Australian Open in Darwin. The 40 year old, #1S, was all smiles after winning her first title since 2014.

Toowoomba Needs Squash

It is “the final nail in the coffin” for Toowoomba Squash!

The last Squash Centre in operation in Toowoomba has been sold and will be demolished for redevelopment of the site in the coming months.

Ron and Susan Crossley started their squash journey in Toowoomba in the early 80's when Susan's father was the owner of the Olive Grove Squash Centre and he needed someone to run it temporarily.

Ron and Susan decided to buy the Centre in 1990, and so their involvement in squash in Toowoomba has remained steadfast until now, a span of almost 40 years. Their lives have revolved around squash, making a lifetime of wonderful memories and friendships within the game.

In the hey day of Toowoomba Squash, there were 8 known centres, and 4 large ones running competitions suitable for everyone. These were Premier, Olive Grove, Willows and Blake Street.

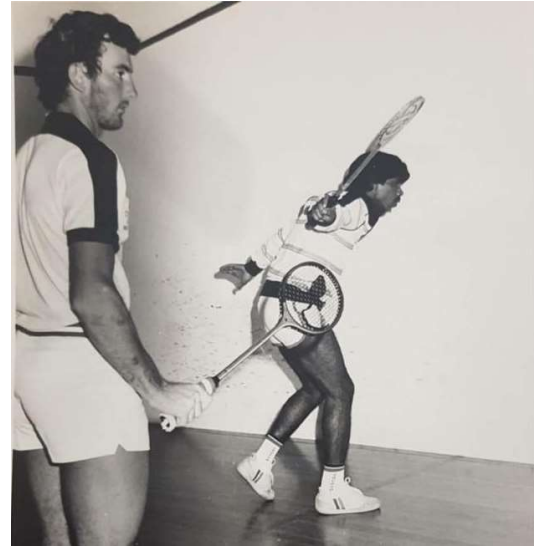

The men's competition ranged from A to J Grade, and the ladies from A to G Grade. Toowoomba was a huge squash town with almost every person playing socially or in competitions at some stage of their lives.

The centres were a hive of activity, with all courts booked for social games, and the competitions only starting at 8pm most evenings. We could still be completing our matches at midnight, but there was always still time for a cold beer and light supper to finish off our evening.

Squash training was another huge part of our squash family in the 80's and 90's, and it would always be followed by a few cold beers and a barbie.

Toowoomba has produced Squash World champion sisters, Rachael and Natalie Grinham. Their father, John Grinham, is still a keen squash player today in Toowoomba.

Rachael is a professional squash player who won the World Open in 2007 and the British Open in 2003 / 2004 / 2007 and 2009.

Phil Rae playing an exhibition match against World Champion Jahangir Khan at Premier Squash Courts in Toowoomba in 1982.

Toowoomba Needs Squash

Her sister Natalie Grinham achieved a World #2 ranking in 2007 but is best known for winning 3 Gold Medals at the 2006 Melbourne Commonwealth Games.

1981 World Champion Rhonda Thorne was also born in Toowoomba.

Today, there are still over 200 people playing squash every week. It would therefore be devastating to consider that this game should die with the closure of the James Street Courts (formerly known as Olive Grove).

Today, Toowoomba thrives as a large, diverse and multicultural city and we must take action now to ensure that this is not the end for squash.

We must remember the positive points for playing squash. It is an indoor sport making it sun smart, can be played in any weather, and any time of the day. It is an excellent cardio workout, and is probably one of very few sports still run by private enterprise, without receiving any outside financial assistance.

“We feel it would be the right time for the University of Southern Queensland or a local school to be involved in the building of a new eight court centre” said Ron.

Toowoomba Squash Inc. committee is working on ways to help fund a new centre by meeting with local State and council representatives. Labor representative, Kerry Shine, is confident the current State Government will be supportive.

The local radio station, Triple M, has spoken with some committee members on air about the need for squash courts in Toowoomba and has offered continuing support for our cause.

Lastly, a fund raising account has been set up, allowing donations to be tax deductible. The donation page can be found at:

<https://asf.org.au/donate/toowoomba-needs-squash/>

Let's all get behind our cause and help build a new squash centre in this great city of Toowoomba and keep this wonderful game alive and kicking.

BEHIND — THE — SCENES

Photographer - Toni van der Kreek

During the OJC and AJO you will see one of the best squash photographers taking lots of photos to capture the action both on and off the court. Toni van der Kreek is no stranger to many of the junior players as they have probably seen her previously at many of the major events with her sons Ben, Jon and these days Robbie.

Squash Media loves Toni. Her photos make our publications come to life! She volunteers her time to capture memories and she is a delight to deal with.

This interview looks to uncover her motivation and get some much needed tips from her so everyone can learn how to take better squash photos! It also looks back at one of her most significant achievements of 2017 ... being an official photographer at the Rugby League State of Origin Decider between Queensland and NSW.

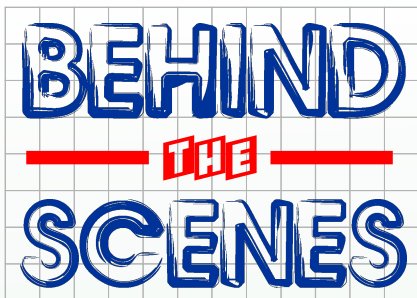

How did you get into photographing squash?

My kids started to play junior comps more often and I noticed that no photos were being taken and if they did they were using an iphone / ipad so the quality was not that good and we all wanted to see some photos after the event.

At that same time I had recently upgraded my camera, so I thought I would give it a go and try take some squash photos. I had no idea what I was doing, but it was fun and I managed to get some good shots. I've always liked to help out but being stuck in the kitchen was not my thing so I found I was able to help by just taking photos. After the first comp I took photos at, I did some research and purchased a few different lenses and got totally hooked into photography.

I've had lots of help along the way from other Squash parents including John Lockton and Tim Harradine.

What advice would you give to anyone taking squash shots that would improve their results quickly?

Toni van der Kreek

Toni's Top 5 Tips

1. Try shutter priority or full manual mode on your camera. (Shutter speed anywhere from 1/160 to 1/250, ISO leave as Auto, however if you don't like the grainy look see if you can set a max ISO setting eg anywhere from 1000 to 3200. Hint: Set your camera to overexpose by 2-4 stops ... the white squash walls can trick the camera.
2. Use continuous auto-focus mode and maybe try back button focus
3. I like to get photos with the players face and if possible the ball in the shot
4. Take lots of crowd shots – they are always great to see
5. Have fun!!!

You spend many hours taking shots and uploading them to the internet. What motivates you to do this?

Good question!!! I must be mad, but I honestly do love taking sport photos, I like the colours, the movement of players, the challenge of getting a different type of shot, the natural expressions of the players, they are not fake but real emotions. Also, trying to pick the moment when some action will happen and when the desperate shots get played.

One of my favourite comps of 2017 was the BJO at Alex Hills on Mother's Days it was really nice to get some Mum and son/daughter photos.

What camera do you use?

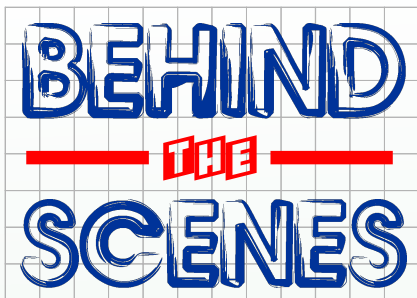

Nikon D500 now, which is a semi pro sports camera and shoots 10fps.

My go-to lens would be the Nikon 24-70mm 2.8, it's fast to focus and at f/2.8 you can have faster shutter speeds as more light can get in.

The camera lens is just as important as the camera body.

You won a competition to officially photograph rugby league players from the sideline in the State of Origin Decider? Did you enjoy the experience? Can you describe how it felt?

I was away with work doing a hard slog 4 day workshop, when I got an email from

PHOTOGRAPHER

Toni van der Kreek

www.facebook.com/TKreekPhotography

NRL media to sign in and submit my details. I thought I might have a chance but I was still not sure if I won. So I tried to not get too excited and submitted my details while having to take a selfie in the hotel as they also needed a recent photo. Later that morning, I got the official call from Nikon to say that I had won a place in this comp. I had to leave the conference room quickly to do celebration dance in the hallway!

Once I told the kids they all wanted to know if I could take someone to carry my bags. My Mum thought it was funny as she knew I knew nothing about NRL apart from the colours of the QLD/NSW teams.

The SOO3 night went in a blur, it was a great night and a once in a life time experience. The highlight of the game was the first try which was right next to our seats.

I have printed a number of the photos from that game and had them framed with my ID card for the night.

What is your favourite squash shot?

Very hard to narrow down, so I only looked back at my 2017 photos. I've chosen these two photos because I can't resist a good B & W photo, plus this match between Tamika Saxby and Samantha Foyle was my favourite match for the whole tournament.

PHOTOGRAPHER

Toni van der Kreek

www.facebook.com/TKreekPhotography

What is your favourite shot of all time?

Really any photo from the WJC 2016 in Poland, so I've picked this one as it was a real treat to take photos at night on a full glass court with Steve Cubbins.

Can't wait until QLD has its own permanent glass court!

This shot was used on the Oceania Junior Championship Poster!

It is a shot of Will Curtis from Western Australia.

What is your favourite State of Origin shot?

I've picked this photo of Valentine Holmes because it depicts the raw emotion of an athlete achieving a brilliant moment.

Queensland Captain Cameron Smith is also caught running in to congratulate Holmes after he scored the first try.

For the record Queensland won the match and the series. Definitely a wonderful experience for me.

Thanks Toni ... thank you so much for allowing Squash Media to use your squash shots!
