We will strive to give you the very latest information particularly where organisers have had to make major changes.

We will aim to publish the document when major changes occur or new information comes to hand including posters.

Promoters are very welcome to send their poster to me as soon as it is produced. A4 (portrait) in jpg is the preferred format, however, if you have a pdf that will be fine.

All we wish to do is promote your event to our readers well in advance of your actual event.

Local hope Rex Hedrick eyes Australian Open crown

Men's Open top seed Rex Hedrick is confident an injury-free run in 2018 has given him the best chance of a strong showing at the Australian Open Squash Championships in Melbourne next month.

The World No. 62 is well advanced on the comeback trail following an injury-plagued 2017, and has turned his attention to breaking into the PSA World Tour top 50 for the first time after previously reaching his highest world ranking of 51 in December 2016.

Now fit and firing and looking forward to competing in an Australian Open hosted in his home city, Hedrick says he is optimistic about his chances of lifting the winner's trophy come the end of the tournament.

"Last year was a very tricky year with injury - I had three separate three-month injuries, so I struggled to find any consistency with my training and felt like I was competing a bit underdone in the tournaments," the 29-year-old said.

"My last 12 months has been more about building my training back up and getting confident in my movement again.

"2018 has been a much smoother year so far and I feel like I am physically in a better position to try and win the title this year."

Hedrick enters the 2018 Australian Open with one PSA World Tour title win this year at the ACT Open in May, as well as a victory at the Australian Nationals back in February. Wedged between those tournament two wins was a home Commonwealth Games campaign on the Gold Coast, where he reached the third round.

While disappointed with recent tournament results at the NZ Southern Open (runner-up), Squash XL Open (quarter-finalist) and Malaysian Open (first round exit), Hedrick says his debut Commonwealth Games experience will hold him in good stead as he approaches future tournaments.

"The build up to Commonwealth Games was massive," Hedrick said.

"I worked really hard to put myself in a position to perform well at the Games, especially after the 2017 setbacks.

2018 CALENDAR

"I then had a good PSA 10k win a couple of weeks after the Comm Games where I felt like I was playing at the top of my game, followed by a disappointing New Zealand Tour a few weeks after that.

"I think you are physically in really good shape post Comm Games from all of the prior training, although the mental side of things can be a bit up and down after such a marquee event."

While acknowledging the significance of competing in an Australian Open as the number one seed on his home court, Hedrick says any pressure associated with such a scenario is outweighed by the excitement of competing in a big PSA tournament in familiar surroundings.

"I think it's always a mixed bag," Hedrick said.

"You do feel a bit of added pressure, but there is also an extra buzz, excitement and home support which is important as well. Maybe they cancel each other out?

"Being an Aussie, the Australian Open is something I have always looked to play each year, and it helps that I am living in Melbourne and I am used to the conditions and courts."

The 2018 Australian Open Squash Championships will take place in Melbourne at the Mulgrave Country Club from 1-5 August.

The 2018 Australian Open will be one of the first events to operate under the new PSA Tour structure featuring a 24-player draw and no qualifying matches.

Tournament prize money has been increased this year from USD$10,000 for each of the Men's and Women's Open events to USD$11,000 for a total prize pool of USD$22,000.

Squash fans that can't get to the Mulgrave Country Club will still be able to view all the action from the 2018 Australian Open courtesy of the Squash Australia YouTube channel.

This year's Australian Open will also incorporate the Victorian Open Graded Squash Championships, which will see players from across the country compete in graded events at the Monash University Sports Centre in Clayton on August 4 & 5.

North Coast Open PSA Challenger Tour 5 – A World Championship Qualification Event 2018-2019

The North Coast Open PSA Challenger Tour 5 Tournament will see some major differences this year.

We are delighted to announce a partnership with new sponsors Roberts & Morrow, Chartered Accountants who are delighted to come on board for this major event in Coffs Harbour.

Spokesperson for Roberts & Morrow, Partner Phil Gream said “ it is great to be involved in such a fantastic sport and we look forward to helping bring this level of squash to the Coffs Harbour community”

Naming Rights for this year's tournament have been taken up by the Accountancy Firm and will be known as the Roberts & Morrow North Coast Open 2018. Roberts & Morrow Chartered Accountants established and based in Armidale are continuing to grow and expand their Accountancy Services in the Coffs Harbour Coastal Region and look forward to supporting the PSA Tour 5 Tournament at the Coffs Harbour Squash and Swim Centre from 30 August to 2 September.

Like many sports, squash is undergoing a structural change from 1 August 2018 worldwide and the North Coast Open in Coffs Harbour will be among the first tournaments using the new platform for the Professional Squash Circuit and Squash Australia Tour in 2018.

Peter Saxby Tournament Promoter of the Coffs Harbour event is delighted to announce that the Roberts & Morrow North Coast Open PSA Challenger Tour 5 Tournament has been confirmed as a World Qualification Challenger Tournament for 2018-19 with the winner gaining automatic entry into the World Championships in Chicago USA 2019.

The World Championships draw is made up of the top 56 ranked players, 7 invitees who are winners of World Qualification Tournaments and one Wildcard position.

The new draw format will see the tournament adopt a 24 player draw for the Men's PSA member's. The Women's Draw will be a 16 player draw, consisting of 15 positions and one Wildcard position.

The event will have two invitee positions offered to compete along with two wildcard nominations to be used by the tournament promoter to PSA players.

Players will have valuable World Ranking Points on offer and the format is expected to attract a quality field with a huge opportunity to the winners awaiting them at the World Championships in 2019.

The Roberts & Morrow North Coast Open is regarded by many as one of the best events on the Squash Australia Tour and tournament organisers will be conducting a support program including Men and Women Grades and the popular Junior Clinic and Junior Competition as part of the weeks extravaganza of squash.

Phil Gream, Roberts & Morrow stated “we are very excited to support this fantastic sporting event in Coffs Harbour where players will be bidding for a place at the next World Championships in Chicago. It provides an opportunity for the public of the Coffs Coastal Region to visit the Squash Centre and follow the progress of the international players showing their skills and support the local contenders in the graded events. All the action you normally have to travel to the city to see will be right here in Coffs Harbour”.

Player's will have a part to play with similar scoring procedures this year, after last year's successful introduction of scoring tablets with Live Scoring via SportyHQ.com and Live Streaming of the event via the Coffs Harbour Squash and Swim Centre Facebook page alongside the constant updates and photos of the event.

Peter Saxby said “it's a fantastic opportunity for players and spectators to join in the 4 days of activities and visit the Coffs Coast Region, check out city attractions and take part in what promises to be a spectacular event in Coffs Harbour. We are delighted to have Roberts & Morrow join as our major sponsor for the tournament and offer their services right here in Coffs Harbour to community members”.

The new structure by the PSA is sure to captivate players looking to secure the top spot and spectators will be treated to some thrilling contests throughout the Roberts & Morrow North Coast Open.

Entries for the Open Divisions have closed and we are now eagerly awaiting the draw format which is prepared by the PSA in England. There is already keen interest among the professional ranks both here in Australia and across the world, with Women players ranked within the top 50 in the world and six entries in the men's event all ranked in the top 100.

Entries for the Graded and Junior Program are now open and close on Wednesday August 22nd.
