Is there a changing of the guard? The "Moose" has been beaten in the Kings Park Australia Day Open!!!

Young Remi Young posted a fine semi final victory winning 11-6, 14-12, 2-11, 6-11, 11-8 (48m). It is a break through but never underestimate the Moose. Mike Corren doesn't like losing and will bounce back with a vengeance! If Remi does it again then we may have a changing of the guard.

That is two major tournament victories in a row for both Remi and Hannah Slyth ... congratulations to you both. In December they both won the WA Closed event.

It is always pleasing to see a new event on the Tournament calendar and one just hopes it is well supported and becomes a regular annual event. The 2024 Kings Park Australia Day Open was a huge success and hopefully, will become the first tournament of the year from here on in.

2024 has started off with a bang (pardon the pun) with the Kings Park Australia Day Open. With a rooftop pool and variety of other top notch facilities, those who stayed back on Friday night had the best seats in the house for the sky show. The tournament was well supported by the squash community and ran very smoothly. We look forward to the 2025 Kings Park Australia Day Open!

WA continues to lead the charge in the rollout of MySquashAUS (revo). We recognise that learning a new system is no mean feat, so we are so grateful to everyone for working with us. While creases continue to be ironed out, please don't hesitate to contact the office if you get stuck. We are here to support you.

With the WA Open International PSA-C6 AND Australian National Championships both on the horizon, we are going to need a lot of volunteer support to pull this off. We are expecting the top players from around Australia to make the trip, and are confident there will be plenty from Malaysia, Singapore, China, and the likes. Whether your contribution will be small or large, please let us know if you can spare some time to help make sure visitors go home raving about how spectacular the two events, and our beautiful city, are!

Squash WA has a new Masters Sub-committee, who will be promoting Masters squash for all those aged 35+, in as many competitions as possible. The myth or misconception that to play as a Master means you are 50+, is simply not the case. We need more players in their 30s and 40s to bite the bullet and have a red hot go (especially for those who prefer not to play the youngsters). We are working with Clubs to include Masters divisions in their tournaments and are including such in every Squash WA-run event.

Speaking of Masters, for the first time in a while, Squash WA will be running the State Masters event in July. We would encourage anyone over the age of 35 years to enter. The age groups are 35-39, 40-44, 45-50, and so on.

The trial Junior Talent Squad ran exceptionally well in 2023, so to compliment the Junior Development Pathway, and to help Clubs get to know all the juniors in their respective zone, 2024 will see the introduction of Zone Squads. Squads on the Junior Development Pathway are by invitation only, so Squash WA Head Coach Tim Cowell, Junior Coordinators, and Club Development Squad Coaches will be nominating juniors for selection.

Lastly, I'd like to strongly urge anyone who hasn't visited the Squash WA website recently to have a look. You can register for any event or competition, find out who your Club contacts are, read the Pennant By-laws, see what we offer schools, learn the basics of the sport, start your coaching journey, and much MUCH more.

Thanks Cindy Parsley.

A very exciting addition to the Squash WA tournament calendar arrived with the introduction of the inaugural 2024 Australia Day Open at the Next Generation Health and Lifestyle Club in Royal Kings Park, hosted by Subi Kings Squash Club.

It was an outstanding success and a credit to the organisers. A very special acknowledgement goes to Paul Stephan, who had the dream! Paul then worked tirelessly and selflessly to ensure it became a reality, ensuring that players and their families were not only able to enjoy their squash, but do so in a comfortable and relaxed resort-like environment over two days.

If you haven't experienced Next Generation before, do yourself a favour and come take a look ... it is undoubtedly Western Australia's most prestigious, luxurious, and best resourced, multisport facility. A VERY BIG thank you goes to Etienne Ferreira, the esteemed General Manager, who very generously agreed to make this tournament happen! Etienne is a big supporter of squash, and we are very grateful to him for his support.

The Honourable Lord Mayor Basil Zempilas sent his apologies for not being able to attend in person, instead sending a congratulatory video and photo, along with his best wishes for all in the tournament.

For those of you who didn't manage to make it to the opening ceremony, this is a squash site of very special historical significance. It is the home of the prestigious women's only event, 'The Silver Bowl', which had not been played there for 25 years. Squash was first played on this site in Kings Park in 1965 before The Silver Bowl women's amateur championship commenced in 1969. In 1998 and 1999, the final years, the trophy was won by world #1s Sarah Fitzgerald and Michelle Martin respectively.

All the players especially appreciated the world class standard of Next Gen's five glass back squash courts with sprung floors and fully airconditioned - a luxury appreciated by all. With 14 divisions, including a Novice Junior event, two Ladies Masters divisions, three Men's Masters divisions, one Ladies division, five Men's divisions, and Ladies and Men's Opens, the squash was fiercely competitive with players displaying mostly outstanding sportsmanship behaviour both on and off the court.

Kings Park Australia Day Open

The depth of competition was exciting and explosive in the Men's Open, with the semi-finals being akin to the standard we are used to seeing in a final. A very big congratulations to Remi Young for his BIG wins over the weekend! He took out number one seed Mike Corren in a gruelling and nail biting five-setter, then backed that up a couple of hours later with a win over Arthur Law who recently relocated from Hong Kong. A big welcome to WA for him!!

The Ladies Open saw the mother-daughter combo, Hannah and Clare Slyth meet in the final. After a very closely contested first game, just slipping into Hannah's hands, she managed to defeat her mother, Clare.

We'd like to make a special mention of the Australian Silver Medallist Award, awarded to the "player of the tournament" for being the most significant contributor to the joy and positive spirit for all. A very worthy recipient attained this honour - Lockie Jamieson. Well Done!!!

A big thank you to Leigh Kaye (Squash WA GM) for her kind address, and both Greg Blycha (Squash Australia Board member) and Dean Williams (squash legend) who kindly agreed to present the awards for the presentation ceremony.

Once again Tournament Director Kane Fasolo did an exemplary job in seeing the smooth running of all matches throughout the weekend. Our Officials Neil Butler and Luke Jamieson, who not only give generously of their time, but often have the unenviable task of making those tough calls in tight situations! Thank you ALL for your amazing work over the weekend.

We can't wait for 2025, where a few more surprises will await this special tournament event!

LEVEL I COACHES COURSE

Saturday 6 and Sunday 7 April 2024

Participants of this course will learn how to prepare a player to compete successfully in a club or tournament environment, along with completing all the necessary administrative requirements.

Participants must be available on both days to attend the Squash WA State Centre in Belmont, and be aged 16 years or above on 7 April 2024.

Online modules form part of this qualification, and must be completed before a coach can be certified. Visit the Squash Australia website to get started!

Thanks Tim Cowell Our annual January camp took place on Wednesday 24 and Thursday 25 January 2024 on a slightly smaller scale this year. Still, it was a chance to work with some of our emerging talent over two days and put them through their paces through a number of routines and testing.

Being quite a young group, we spoke about our shot minimum standards, things to look for and try in condition games, and tested out their court awareness. Some of them showed off some fancy footwork on the agility ladders, whilst a few might have a bit of practice to do at home when it comes to their skipping ability!

Recently accredited Level 1 Coach and Sports Science student Eric Gray oversaw the physical testing, whilst champion player (and person!) Pascale Louka was on hand on the Thursday to share some wisdom with the players.

Thanks to all the parents (and grandparents) for dropping the kids off, Serena for her work behind the scenes with admin in the lead up and food preparation on the days, and to our sponsor Fuel to Go & Play. The Talent Squad program will now kick into gear as we work towards the AJCs in September.

Clinics are a great way to engage the kids during the school holidays. If your club/centre is interested in hosting one but not sure where to start or what to do, get in contact with me hp@squashwa.asn.au or Serena engagement@squashwa.asn.au for some ideas of how to run one, what to do, and who to target.

POST TOURNAMENT

You have just run a very successful tournament. The finals have been won, the prizes handed out and the sponsors & volunteers thanked. Well done ... you have done a GREAT job.

However, recognising the winners and thanking the sponsors & volunteers to the wider squash community via the SWAN and the Squash WA website has many benefits.

Players read the recognition and appreciation you have for them - playing and contributing to the overall success of the event. They are likely to return. You never know one of those players may be in a position to influence a potential sponsor.

Sponsors love all the coverage they can get and it costs you nothing to thank them in other ways like publishing a story in the SWAN. Always ensure their high quality logo is displayed where ever possible. Give them every incentive to sponsor you again next year. Never take their support for granted.

Volunteers love a little gratitude. So many give of their time freely and all it takes is to recognise and thank them. They won't hesitate to help out again next year if they know they are very much appreciated.

The SWAN allows you to do all these things at no cost. In all seriousness you can put something together in less than 30 min. The SWAN looks to promote, recognise and thank people for contributing to our sport.

2023 Scottish Junior Open & 2024 British Junior Open

Thursday 28 - Saturday 30 December 2023 and
Wednesday 3 January - Sunday 7 January 2024

Belmont Saints' Daniel Marsh and Esperance's Aiden Finlay-Mulligan made their way over to the United Kingdom just after Christmas to compete in the 2024 British Junior Open, with Daniel arriving a little earlier to compete in the 2023 Scottish Junior Open!

2023 JC Lindsay Scottish Junior Open

Taking place in Edinburgh, the Scottish Junior Open saw Daniel Marsh pushing through the qualifying round, taking down Papua New Guinea's Josh Porter in three (11-4 11-8 11-5).

Daniel's first round match was an epic battle against 3/4 seed Scottish Kyle Penman. It was SO close, but Daniel went down in four (6-11, 6-11, 11-9, 10-12) in the end.

In the running for the boys under 19 plate, Daniel then took out Pakistan's Abubakar Rana in three (11-0, 11-4, 3-0/retired). In the semi-finals Daniel was victorious against Scotland's Dylan Pearman in a fairly convincing three-setter (11-4, 11-3, 11-7). Another Scot, Sam Shannon, had a crack at Daniel in the plate final but just couldn't quite match up.

While still only 17 years of age, young Daniel Marsh is the 2023 Scottish Junior Open BU19 plate WINNER - what a phenomenal achievement!!

2024 British Junior Open

A total of 20 Aussie superstars competed against the best in the world in the 2024 British Junior Open in Birmingham, UK. Outside of the World Junior Championships, the British Junior Open is regarded by most as one of the most prestigious junior events across the globe with a history spanning decades.

Aiden found himself in a 64-person elimination draw in the boys under 17 division, up against England's Dylan Smithson in the first round. Although missing out on the win in four (11-8, 6-11, 4-11, 6-11), he made his comeback the next day against Wales' Louis Stephens, getting up in three (11-5, 11-8 11-8).

After a loss on Thursday to Pakistan's Muhammad Umair Arif in three close games (7-11, 9-11, 10-12), Aiden fought an incredible battle against England's Harry Parkinson on Friday, coming out on top (12-14, 13-11, 11-5, 11-6). Aiden's final match of the event was another four-setter against Salem Almwled. The young Saudi Arabian proved too strong in the end, despite Aiden grabbing a convincing win in the third (7-11, 7-11, 11-4, 11-13).

Meanwhile, Daniel played in a 128-person Monrad draw in the boys under 19 division, up against Devon Li [33/64] in the first round. It was a tough loss against the Canadian (8-11, 5-11, 8-11), but Daniel came back to take down England's Oscar Lambert in three (11-3, 11-3, 11-2) - no messing about. He backed it up with another solid win against England's Thomas Hill (11-3, 11-8, 11-2), and then Harry Green (11-7, 11-4, 11-9).

Daniel fought hard in a tight five-setter against England's Ethan Duncan, going down in the fifth (11-9, 8-11, 11-6, 8-11, 9-11). Despite his next opponent England's Jake Sim-Baskar having the lead 2-1, Sim-Baskar was unable to finish the match due to a shoe malfunction (12-10, 8-11, 6-11, 0-3).

Yep - that is INDEED Paul Coll and Nele Gilis

With my Dad Brendan and Rob Owen

Upon his return, Daniel shared, "It was the first time for me in the cold, and in the United Kingdom, but it was time well spent as I got to experience a different level and a different way of how the game is played. In the SJO, I finished winning the Plate, after losing the first round to the winner in a four-game 60-minute battle. In the BJO I finished joint plate as the final match wasn't played out. It was a really valuable experience; I made Yep - that is INDEED Paul Coll and Nele Gilis new friends, and new connections on the other side of the world. This trip definitely wouldn't have been possible without the huge support from home, and the Western Australian squash community for supporting this trip. Huge thanks to my family, for their continuous and huge amount of effort they with dad Brendan and one of the best coaches in the world - Rob Owen put into making this trip happen. My coach Wayne, for putting in many on and off court hours, and for setting me up with one of the best coaches in the world, Rob Owen, for a few days. Lastly, thank you to my sponsors for their continuous support: HEAD Squash, Belmont Saints Squash Club, Cheeky Monkey Squash, Gripstar Socks, Yonex and WASA."

Win or lose, we are all so very proud of Aiden and Daniel, and all the hard work they've put in to get to where they are - travelling the globe, competing at the very highest junior level. We hope they're as proud of themselves as we are, and can't wait to see what they do next!!

Thanks Tim Cowell Happy New Year! Hopefully everyone is recharged and ready to go for a massive year ahead. There are events galore this year so a little bit of planning might be needed.

Planning - this is an important process in the role of the coach. On the smallest scale, planning is the lesson plan, the junior session, the club hit, what you are hoping to achieve in that 45 minutes to two hours.

The next step up is the months ahead; some coaches may refer to it as the next block of training. Then you look at the long term one year + in terms of how you prepare a player for major events or what they might be capable of with more physical maturity.

Short term - the lesson plan. I will operate on complete opposite ends here. For Development Squad and Talent Squad sessions, the plan is written out with timings, progressions, special notes and the fitness aspect for that week. Each of those lessons fit into a particular 'block' or focus, depending on the time of year and how far out we are from a particular competition. Lighter weeks also need to be factored in to stay on top of fatigue levels.

The opposite to this would be private lessons; someone brand new or a player you've been working with regular but has something left field they want to work on. So, during the warm up its quick thinking for where to start first and then progress it from there.

Picking the right events to get to as well, because let's face it, some tournaments can add up if travel and days off work are required. Junior families in the past have potentially been seduced by ranking points and are prepared to fly all over to get the best ranking.

The next sentence needs to be carefully read and not taken out of context here. Sometimes rankings aren't quite the true reflection of ability. When it comes to selection criteria, they certainly play a big role, but don't discount match ups because results speak for themselves.

Here is where this is leading to: roughly 10 years ago now, I took a tour group to Europe for two tournaments, and a training camp in Sweden. At first you look at the price of the trip and think woah, that's a lot of money for a squash trip. But when broken down into the number of matches they got, it was 'better dollars spent' per match, than going to the Australian Junior Open that year. Plus, they played different players and got the chance to watch some of the best in the world for their age groups. Experience is golden.

So, for everyone looking at the calendar this year thinking 'what events do I really want to play?', maybe a quick break down in terms of priority is in order. This isn't just for juniors, this could be everyone.

Priority 1 - The peak - the favourites. It could be the one you really want to perform well in or a favourite place to go that you just can't miss. For juniors this might be the State Junior Champs or AJC. For others it could be the Esperance Open if it's a favourite, or perhaps Broome if you manage to snap up an invite. Country Week will no doubt feature quite high for regional players.

Priority 2 - The close seconds - also really important ones. These might be a bit closer to home so you can play a few more of them, or maybe there are a couple more regional events you want to get to. Again, you will do what you can to get there.

Priority 3 - Nothing against these events, if you can play, great, but if there is something else on, you might not make this tournament. And to be honest, it's okay for tournaments to appeal to different standards. Bronze junior events are targeted at the top players in their age group, so it's no stress if they miss a couple.

The final consideration is loading. For me personally, a few niggles have really tested loading over the past year but I'm hopefully getting on top of a foot problem which has plagued me on and off for close to 12 months.

Years ago when trying to return to tournaments with my infamous knee injury, I found that I couldn't play tournaments over consecutive weekends, so if there were two back to back, I'd have to make a choice. If this is you, that's okay. Maybe alternate the events each year so that you get to play something different.

Anyway, good luck to everyone in 2024. Hopefully I'll soon be on court playing as well!

The first WSF Level 1 Coaching course for 2024 was held at Squash WA HQ in Belmont on 20 and 21 January. I was fortunate enough to have Paul Kershaw, Dean Kidd (NT) and Tim Cowell assisting me on this course.

We had 11 candidates, including 2 country players from Bunbury and Busselton. We had a great mix of junior and senior players.

Saturday was a busy day learning the WSF Coaching Tools and shot production. With each course, we ask those acting as students to play with their non-dominant hands, using these tools saw quick improvements and a lot of laughs were had.

On Sunday morning, we summarised shots again then spent the rest of the day writing session plans and delivering a lesson for assessment. This puts many candidates out of their comfort zones, however, they all put in a great effort to ensure the best outcome.

It is a massive learning curve going from player to coaching. Overall, I think the candidates gained a lot of coaching knowledge.

It is so encouraging to see these candidates wanting to give something back to our sport. Clubs need volunteers for their grass roots programs and this course is a great way to help them. Thank you to everyone involved in the preparation and running of this course.
